Ten Cents

The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

The Guard at the Creamery

Oil and milk producers have a thing in common. They have ripped off consumers unconsciously—and laughed about it all the way to the bank.

Now, California State Auditor General Harvey Rose reveals that the state Agriculture Department miscalculated in projecting figures by which minimum prices could be charged for milk last year.

The five-cents a half-gallon "miscalculation" bilked consumers out of $55 million, thus adding more to the inflationary spiral.

When taxpaying consumers make an error, they get quick and certain penalties. Rose suggests a "rollback of prices" program as a shrug-of-the-shoulders solution to the Agriculture Department's ineptitude.

How did the costly blunder come about?

Rose said the figures by which the "error" came about came from the milk producers.

That's like asking a burglar to guard the state treasury.

The price of milk under the state Agriculture Department has increased from 54 cents a half gallon in 1973 to 71 cents at present.

A Political Job for Mr. Nixon?

Another one of former President Nixon's odd actions came a few days ago when he asked Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater to aid him in getting back into the mainstream of Republican politics.

If there was anything noble in Mr. Nixon's Watergate performance, it was the preservation of the tapes which became the evidence that brought about his resignation.

Such an odd request indicates that Mr. Nixon does not see his Watergate involvement as irregular or illegal. It is unlikely that few leading Republicans would agree to such a suggestion for fear it would dissolve the remaining credibility of the national leadership. That credibility is being tested week after week as corporation-after-corporation faces the courts regarding illegal campaign contributions for Mr. Nixon's re-election.

Either Mr. Nixon sees the political scene through tragedy-marred vision or he has regained the brazen disdain that he and his "palace guard" appeared to have as they taped themselves sacrificing their cohorts and misleading the citizens of the nation.

And if there is one thing this country doesn't need right now it's a high salaried tape technician.

VFW Heads to Pay County Official Visit Saturday

Official State Veterans of Foreign Wars visit to First District, San Diego County, will be held at 10 a.m. Sunday. State officers and chairmen will listen to First District committee reports, and speak briefly on the programs of the state-wide V.F.W.

State Commander Jack Melban and State VFW Auxiliary President Mrs. Harold Cousins will preside at the two day affair which is scheduled for the Hilton Inn on Mission Bay dr., San Diego.

A no-host cocktail hour will be at 6:30 p.m. Saturday. A banquet-ball will follow. Reservations are being taken by Maples at 276-5193.

Burglar's Loot Tops $7,000.00

Anne F. McGuire, a disabled resident of 7130 Waite dr., Lemon Grove, reported to the Lemon Grove sheriff's office that sometime between January 17 and February 1 she had been burglarized of jewelry valued at $7,065.

Included in her loss was a pearl necklace choker valued at $5,000, a gold pendant worth $2,000 and several small items. The burglar left a large quantity of costume jewelry that had a comparatively modest value.

Police reported that there were no visible signs of entry.

'Where There's Smoke ...'

Shortly after 1 a.m. Sunday, sheriff's deputies stopped a car driven by Robert Zaldivar, 18, of 10430 San Carlos dr., Spring Valley.

They wanted to warn him that his auto had an inoperative rear light.

Police reports indicate that in the car they detected the strong odor of marijuana smoke. In the car they located a marijuana roach; a cigar box with 6.2 grams of marijuana and a package of Zig Zag cigarette papers.

Zaldivar is being arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court, week.

William H. West Becomes Lemon Grove Centenarian

More than 50 guests will pay homage to one of Lemon Grove's oldest residents Friday when William H. West, of 8452 Mt. Vernon st., marks his 100th birthday.

West is the stepfather of Henry Eckler and lives with Mr. and Mrs. Eckler at their home at the Mt. Vernon street address. She is the former Lena H. Eckler, mother of Henry Eckler. She died in 1964.

West was born in England and came to San Diego in 1903. He has lived in Lemon Grove since 1914.

His health is surprisingly good for a man of his years. He uses a hearing aid but his eyesight and mental faculties are good.

He quotes long passages from the Bible and enters into competition with the television quiz shows — usually giving correct answers before the tee-vee contestants.

West has never been hospitalized, a condition that the Ecklers claim is the result of

Car Partially Dismantled

Three hours after Don Eugene Kramer, of 1386 Cuyamaca st., in Spring Valley, had parked his auto in front of his parents' home, it had been moved 50 feet and partially dismantled.

When Kramer emerged from his parents' home at 6 p.m. Sunday, the wheels, tape deck and speakers had been taken. The thief broke a window to get to the electronic equipment. The loss, he said, was $284.

Marijuana Plant Brings Charge

Sheriff's deputies spied a marijuana plant in the window of an apartment occupied by three young adults Sunday afternoon.

Gary Robert Grohowski, 20; Raymond Allen Morris, 20 and Emma Olerme Cabansaz, 19, all of 7555 High st., Lemon Grove, were arrested.

In addition to the marijuana plant police found 175.4 grams of marijuana seed; 3.9 grams of marijuana and 9 pipes.

They were charged with possession of marijuana; cultivation of marijuana and possession of marijuana paraphernalia.

Arraignment will be in El Cajon Municipal Court.

Brown's IPO Gets Supervisors' Approval

Supervisor Dick Brown's Integrated Planning Office (IPO) is going to be an actuality soon.

The supervisors voted 4-1 to give preliminary approval to Brown's plan to bring all planning into one organization for better communication with the public and with themselves. Supervisor Lou Conde dissented.

An operational report and a preliminary budget will be studied by the Board on March 4. Final approval is scheduled for March 25 and be in operation early in July, he said.

To achieve the purpose of the organization, the several planning units now in operation will be merged into a single top-level office. It is said to be the most radical change in the county system since the introduction of the agency concept six years ago.

The IPO operation will be attached to the office of the chief administrative officer, above the county's eight agencies.

IPO will employ approximately 100 persons — most of whom are already on the county's planning payroll but scattered in various agency and department units.

Various Responsibilities

Under the direction of IPO would be long-range planning associated with land-use, transportation, flood control, environmental management and public facilities.

Most of the functions of the Environmental Development Agency would be absorbed by the new unit and that would probably dissolve EDA.

The county's Department of Transportation and Office of Intergovernmental Affairs would be also altered by the formation of the IPO operation.

Brown noted that the public had given strong support to the formation of IPO. Environmentalists, contractors, chambers of commerce, ecologists and non-organized citizens have indicated approval for the merger.

"It is obvious that the current process does not work," Brown said. "IPO should prove beneficial to all segments of the county and its economies should benefit the taxpayers," he said.

"IPO," he said, "has a high potential to overcome some of the squawks planning is now generating."

It is believed that there will be no great change in the cost between the old and new concept.

Clad 'Customer' Robs LG House of Massage

A Lemon Grove masseuse got a massage of a sort last week on Tuesday but it wasn't what she had planned.

Actually, it was a strong-arm robbery with the 'masseuse' putting a 'choke' on her until she collapsed.

Barbara J. Roy, 36, of the 'Gress Massage at 7344 Broadway, told sheriff's deputies that her loss was $358.75 after a man approached her from the rear as she was picking up towels in the massage room of the establishment and put his right arm around her neck and demanded her money.

She described him as a white male, fully clad, 6 feet tall, about 195 pounds, with brown hair.

Ms. Roy described the incident, saying the parlour closed about 2:30 a.m. and she laid down to rest but couldn't sleep. At 4:30 she got up and opened the front door "just in the event a customer might arrive."

At 6:30 a.m. while she was picking up towels in the work area, a man walked in and put

Thieves Loot Home Of Bereaved Family

While Romaldo Baca, Jr., and his family of 9682 Osage st., Spring Valley, were away making arrangements for the funeral of his father, someone entered his home with the aid of a flat-bladed tool and burglarized the place.

Lost were golden and silver pieces; a bracelet, two necklaces and 20 8-track tapes. He reported his loss to be $556.06.

News Stands Being Stolen

News oriented thieves have been operating in the Lemon Grove area during the past two weeks, the sheriff's office was told.

They have stolen news stands belonging to the LEMON GROVE REVIEW, SAN DIEGO UNION-TRIBUNE and the CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR.

The devices cost $75-$150 and usually contained less than $3 in the coin receptacles.

The stands are usually completely wrecked even after they are found often in a field or canyon.

A reward is offered for information leading to the apprehension of the thieves.

Prowler Nabbed; Husband Charged

Sheriff's deputies responded to a prowler call Saturday at 12:30 a.m. at the home of Galen Craig Halla, 7243 Balkis in Lemon Grove.

Officers were met at the door by Kathy Halla, the housewife who told of hearing the noise beneath the kitchen window.

Investigating officers heard a noise in the greenhouse and nabbed a man they said was hiding in it under a bench.

In the shake-down, police reportedly found a film canister with marijuana in it and some hashish oil, in the suspect's possession. He was arrested.

When police brought him out, Mrs. Halla exclaimed, "that's my husband."

Police charged Galen Craig Halla with possession of marijuana and hash. Police said Halla occupied the house with his wife but no reason was given for the early morning prowler.

He is being arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

Velma P. Davis

S.V. Woman is Bank Manager

Velma P. Davis, 4019 North Cordoba st., Spring Valley has been appointed manager of the new Lakeside Bank of America, Regional Vice President Gilbert Fox announced last week.

Mrs. Davis, a 23-year veteran of the bank, had been assistant manager for loans at the Fletcher Hills office since 1973. In her new position, she heads the eight-member staff of the first Bank of America office in Lakeside which opened January 29.

Currently secretary of the Fletcher Hills Business Association, she and her husband, Virgil, are the parents of a son, Donald, who resides in Imperial Beach.

Local Burglar Activity Continues at Fast Pace

Thieves are growing busier in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area.

New to the list of items stolen in this week's list are some silver bars.

Sheriff's deputies urge those holding precious metal to store them in a safe or a deposit box. As more people invest in metal, thieves will find it profitable to seek it out as a convenient loot.

Auto Tools Gone

Glenn Carlos Macy, of 9489 Crest dr., Spring Valley told sheriff's deputies that some of his auto tools, valued at $126 were taken from his home on Monday night last week. Lila B. Rollins, 3665 S. Irving Feldman of 802 Saford st., Spring Valley, reported that the license plates (GSK 806) had been stolen from his auto which was parked in front of his residence.

Equipment Stolen

A compressor, a stapling gun, power saw and transit, all valued at $802, were taken from a construction shed of which he occupies at the Bakker Carey Construction Co., at 1011 La Mesa st., Spring Valley, in the Dictionary Hill area, last week.

$7,000 Loss Reported

Six RCA 2-way radios and one manufactured by Johnson were taken from the construction lot of Franklin Trucking turbed in the trailer.

Co., 325 Elkton, Spring Valley early last week, the firm reported to the local sheriff's office.

The loss, a spokesman said, amounted to $7,000.

School Burglarized

Three slide projectors valued at $314 were stolen from offices of Monterey Heights school Sunday night last week.

The thief had a key that opened the door but the cabinet door in which the projectors were locked was forced.

Tape recorders in the cabinet were not taken.

Church Burglarized

The Church of the Latter Day Saints, Spring Valley Ward, 3348 Sweetwater Springs ada, Spring Valley, told police blvd., was burglarized of $850 Wednesday, that the front in tools Monday night, it was seats of her 1973 Mazda had reported to the Lemon Grove been stolen during the night. office of the Sheriff's Department.

The church is under construction.

KPBS Presents Faulkner Play

Sarah Miles stars as Temple Drake Stevens in the Hollywood Television Theatre presentation of William Faulkner's play, "Requiem for a Nun" Monday at 8 p.m. and February 15 at 9 p.m., on KPBS-TV Channel 15.

The play is set in a small town in Mississippi in the 1930's. Nancy Mannigoe (Mar Alice), formerly a drunk and a drug addict, is on trial for murdering the infant daughter of Temple and Gowd Stevens. Nancy, who appeared to have reformed when she was hired as the nurse for the six-month child, pleads guilty to the charge of murder and she receives the death sentence.

Nancy is an illiterate, deeply religious black woman who suffocates the infant girl because she believes it to be the only way to save the child from sin. The development of the play brings to light the complexity of Temple Drake Stevens in provoking Nancy's action, as well as the degenerate, repressive, guilt-ridden household around which the play unfolds.

Women's Group Seeks Books

A collection drive for used books, magazines and professional journals has been undertaken by the Brandeis U. National Women's Committee, San Diego Chapter.

The books will be sold at their annual "New Books for Old Sale" at Grossmont Center April 24-26.

Items will be picked up at the donor's home by calling 239-2265. Donations are tax deductible, it was said.

The Brandeis Women's Committee is devoted to maintaining the Brandeis Libraries with funds necessary to purchase books, journals and equipment, and to employ professional staff and student workers.

The sale is an awaited community event which gives the book-lovers of San Diego County an opportunity to browse and find book treasures of their own. Janet Spiro, a project executive said.

High School Senior Population is Static

The total number of seniors in the Grossmont Union High School District has remained almost the same as last year, the number of January graduates has dropped from a total of 572 in 1974 to approximately 474 this year, according to Associate Superintendent Stanley McClintic.

This year there are 4,234 seniors, compared to 4,233 in 1974; slightly more than 10% of this number ended their studies in January.

Reasons some students choose to graduate mid-term. "First, these students desire to get into higher education, and secondly, general maturity and an eagerness to get into the adult world in work in some way," McClintic said.

He indicated that the accelerated trend of mid-term graduates has leveled off. "I don't think the 3% decline represents any significant downward trend," he said.

Monte Vista High School has a total of 650 seniors, 96, or 14.8% of whom will graduate mid-term; El Cajon has 386 seniors, with 57 graduating in January, also reflecting 14.8%; El Capitan has 423 seniors, 53 of whom are January grads, or 12.5%; Granite Hills, 454 seniors, 53 January grads, or 11.7%; Grossmont, with 588 seniors, will graduate 51, or 8.7% mid-term; Helix, 573, 49 January grads, or 8.6%; Mt. Miguel, 585 seniors, 50 mid-term grads, or 8.5%; and Santana, with 575 seniors will graduate 45, or 7.8% mid-term.

The Past Matrons and Patrons Association of San Diego County, Order of the Eastern Star, hold their regular monthly pot-luck dinner Saturday evening at 6 p.m. at the Fairmount Recreation center, 4077 Fairmount ave. Members are to bring hot dishes, salad or dessert, and own table service.

Newly installed President Mrs. Mary Ovey and Advisor Douglas Putt preside at the meeting to follow. Games follow the meeting. All past matrons and patrons are invited.

Artist to Demonstrate

Garnetta Finnegan, a portrait artist, will demonstrate her oil artistry Wednesday at Sears in El Cajon at 7:30 p.m. under the auspices of the Dilly Daubers.

She has displayed at one-man shows recently in Oakland and San Francisco. She lives now in Santee and has a studio in El Cajon. Her paintings are on display at the Humble Gallery in La Mesa.

The demonstration is open to the public.

Rebekah Assembly Visit is Official

Mrs. James Moates of San Jose, president of the Rebekah Assembly of California, will make an official visit to Silver Gate Rebekah Lodge No. 141, 3911 Kansas St. in San Diego, Friday. Lodge will convene at 7:30 p.m. preceded by a dinner at the Shanghai Restaurant, 54th and University at 5:45 p.m.

Mrs. Walter Prouty, newly installed Noble Grand, will conduct the business meeting and will be assisted by Mrs. Wayne Bergevin of Spring Valley, Vice Grand.

Mrs. Lionel Worden is dinner chairman. Other committee members are Mmes.: Howard Fallis, W. J. Burkett and Ted Carter, all of La Mesa and Mrs. Audine Burt of San Diego.

All Rebekahs in the area are invited.

Shop To Aid United Way

The Hair Shoppe, 6943 Federal blvd., Lemon Grove, has set Wednesday as its final United Way day.

The firm has agreed to contribute all of the proceeds of that day to the fund, according to Turner, co-ordinator of Hair Shoppes in the east county.

Turner (no first or last name — just Turner) said most of the work the firm performs is at the rate of $16 a person. But on Wednesday the same work will be done for $3. The entire $3 is then contributed to United Way Fund, Ken Mosher, shop owner, said.

The work is exactly the same as in the $16 work and the same amount of time is given to UW customers.

A day's booking, he said, is a maximum of 40 people. Appointments are required. The phone number is 460-4407.

Incidentally, Wednesday is the fourth in a series of days he set aside for United Way. More than 35 persons received professional hair care on each of the other three Wednesdays.

He said there is no other charge of any kind except the $3 contribution to UW.

Desert Talk at Museum

Geologist, Dr. Richard Phillips speaks on the "Geology and Origin of Southern California Desert Basins," Wednesday, 7:30 p.m., at the Natural History Museum in Balboa Park. He will discuss the origins of present day topography, the build up of mountain ranges and basins and volcanic activities as well as present day geologic forces and the causes of arid conditions, flash floods and winds that have created our distinctive desert landscape. Tickets, available at the Museum, are $4.

Winning Slogan Found

The La Mesa Exchange Club, in searching for a local crime slogan to emphasize National Crime Prevention Week, found one in "Get Involved: Prevent Crime," submitted by Ralph Straw, a retired Lakeside resident. Straw's entry was judged best of over 100 entries. He receives a $50 savings bond at the club's Crime Prevention Luncheon next week.

One-Man Gallery Show

Jack Zajac, Los Angeles sculptor, is featured in a one-man exhibition at the Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego, Balboa Park, February 15 through March 30. The exhibition, comprised of a survey of works up to the present by the artist, was organized by the Jodi Scully Gallery.

To his credit Zajac has received many major prizes and has had at least thirty one-man shows in San Francisco, Los Angeles, New York, Chicago, Hawaii, London, Rome and in other major cultural centers.

The Gallery is open to the public free of charge Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sunday, 12:30 to 5 p.m. It is closed Monday.

2660 Impounded

The County Animal Regulation Division reported that in a four-week period, December 14-January 10, 2660 pets were impounded in the county. Of that figure, 939 were redeemed or adopted. 1613 animals were destroyed. Another 108 were donated to medical research.

This Week's RECIPE

Leftovers Turned into Gourmet Meal

Leftovers — or "planned overs" as many homemakers prefer to call them — are a boon to the creative cook. They can be as good or better the second time around than they were at the first serving. For instance, leftover cooked chicken and ham combine with mushrooms to make delicately flavored Chicken and Ham a la King, a luxurious dish for a brunch or luncheon. To add a new dimension to this popular entree, economists suggest serving it over heated shoestring potatoes. Round out the meal with Crispy Cheese Biscuits and carrot and celery sticks.

CHICKEN AND HAM A LA KING

(six servings)
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1/3 cup flour
1 1/4 cups milk
1/2 cup chicken broth
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash each: pepper and mace
1 1/4 cups diced cooked chicken
1 cup diced cooked ham
1 jar (4 1/2 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Shoestring potatoes

Melt butter in large frying pan; stir in flour. Gradually add milk and broth; cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add mustard and seasonings.

Stir in chicken, ham, and mushrooms. Heat thoroughly; stir in parsley. Serve over heated shoestring potatoes.

CRISPY CHEESE BISCUITS

(10 biscuits)
2 tablespoons butter
1 jar (5 ounces) pimiento-olive cheese spread
1 package (8 oz.) refrigerated baking powder biscuits
1/2 cup coarsely crushed shoestring potatoes.

Melt butter in saucepan; stir in cheese spread, mixing well until blended. Place biscuits in greased 8-inch round cake pan. Spread cheese spread over top of biscuits; sprinkle with shoestring potatoes. Bake at 450° for 10 to 12 minutes. Remove biscuits to warm serving plate.

Art Topic is 'Walls'

Walls, as a medium for creative expression, is the topic of an illustrated talk by Henry G. Gardiner, Director of the Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego, Wednesday, at 8 p.m. at the gallery.

Gardiner discusses the painted walls found in the cultural centers across the United States. The relatively recent rediscovery of the wall as a vehicle for creative expression differs from the mural tradition of preceding generations.

Lecture, sponsored by the Contemporary Arts Committee, is preceded by a social hour at 7:30 p.m. $1 donation and reservations are requested.

Exchange Students Feted During 'Friendship Week'

This is International Friendship Week at Monte Vista High School. The annual observance pays tribute to the exchange student programs that provide a regular flow of high-school age visitors from foreign lands and send American students overseas.

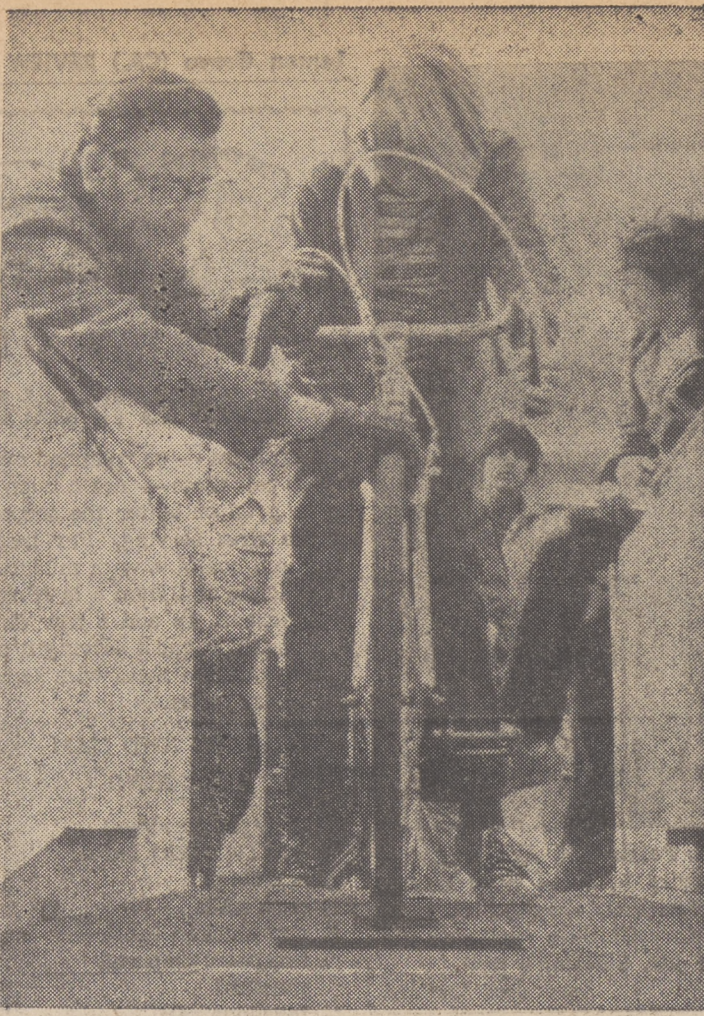

Throughout the week, the International Club is selling International Friendship Bonds which help finance the exchange programs.

An assembly at Monte Vista, Wednesday, honored the foreign students now studying in the Grossmont High School District. Among those students are ten from six different countries who are visiting Monte Vista.

Travel arrangements and accommodations are arranged for the international travelers through the American Field Service, International Cultural Exchange, and Youth for Understanding.

Aztecs Unbeaten in PCAA Hoop Conference

Two key PCAA basketball games await San Diego State's basketball team as the Aztecs take to the road for the first time this year in the conference.

The conference leading Aztecs, who have won four games in a row, will be in Stockton to play U. of Pacific at 8:05 p.m. tonight, then will meet San Jose State Saturday at 3:10 p.m. Both games can be heard live on KFMB Radio (760) with Ron Reina calling the action.

Saturday's game will be televised in San Diego on Channel 6 and on Channel 5 in Los Angeles at 3 p.m.

Pacific is 10-9 overall and 1-2 in PCAA play. Last week the Tigers lost to San Jose State 92-75.

San Jose State is 14-8 overall and 2-1 in PCAA action. The Spartans only conference loss was to Long Beach State in Long Beach.

The Aztecs ran their win streak to four by beating Fresno (73-60) and Long Beach (84-77) last week. The wins upped San Diego's season record to 9-8 and the conference mark to 3-0.

"We're fired up and ready to go," said Aztec coach Tim Vezie. "We've put our game together and I believe we're really playing well. It's been five frustrating years since we've beaten Long Beach and I've suffered through each one."

"We got a break in the scheduling with our first three PCAA games at home and we wanted to win all three. Well, we've done that and now we must at least split on the road. Pacific and San Jose have always been tough for us, especially on the road. Neither place is easy to win in."

18 Recruits Listed On Aztec Grid List

First team junior college All-America kicker Steve LaPlant and linebacker Ray Williams head a list of 18 new football recruits that have enrolled at San Diego State U. for the spring semester.

LaPlant, a soccer style kicker from College of San Mateo, booted 15 of 20 field goals this season to tie the national JC record held by Ron Vandermeer of Delta College in 1972. Overall in two years at San Mateo, LaPlant booted 20 of 28 field goals and 35 of 40 conversions. He was seven for seven on field goal attempts inside the 30 yard line, five of eight from 30 to 39 yards and three of four from 40 and 49 yards this season.

Williams (5-11½, 217) is from San Diego Mesa College and prepped at San Diego High School. He was first team All-State, South Coast Conference Defensive Player of the Year as well as All-America. He is the image of Bobby Henderson, who led the Aztecs in tackles the past two seasons.

Offensive Players

The other offensive recruits are tight end Bill Helms (6-7, 235) from Grossmont College, running back Steve Simunec (5-11, 194) from Palomar College, guard Rick Cooper (6-2, 230) from Bakersfield College, running back Rob Henry (6-1, 215) from Merced College, guard Mike Solari (6-2, 235) from College of San Mateo, receiver Ralph Reagan (5-10, 165) and Tony Jackson (6-4, 200) both from Fresno City College, tackle Ron Vander Sluis (6-4, 240) from Cerritos College and quarterback Pete Tereschuk (5-10½, 170) from Long Beach City College.

Vandalism Reported

Charles Krugle, who operates a backhoe service, told police last week on Wednesday that someone had put dirt in the oil vent intake and the battery of his backhoe during the night during which it was left on a construction job in the 2800 block of Mercury st., Lemon Grove.

The vandals also smashed the vehicle's gauges.

Olympic Runners, Jumpers Join San Diego Indoor Games

Olympic Games marathon champion Frank Shorter has confirmed his entry for the two mile at the ninth annual San Diego Indoor Games, set Saturday night, Feb. 15, at the Sports Arena.

Shorter will oppose America's all-time great distance ace, Steve Prefontaine. Pre set the present American two-mile mark of 8:20.4 indoors on the swift San Diego boards last winter.

The Olympic marathon champion is a former American record holder at the distance indoors, that mark also having been set at San Diego.

Shorter, in winning the 26-mile, 385-yard grind at Munich, became the first American in 64 years to capture perhaps the single most glamorous gold medal in the Olympics.

Another addition to the two mile field is Ed Mendoza, former great San Diego prep runner who now is one of the nation's best collegiate two milers at the University of Arizona.

Olympic Jumper

Olympic Games long jump champion Randy Williams of USC will take on San Diegans Bouncy Moore and Arnie Robinson in the long jump at the ninth annual San Diego Indoor Games.

USC's Williams was the youngest gold medal winner in track and field at the Munich Olympics. He and his pet Teddy Bear was one of the happier memories of a somber Olympics.

Randy has announced he will try to defend his title at Montreal next year.

Bouncy may be the world's hottest jumper at the moment. The National Champion won the recent Sunkist meet and had a leap of 28-1 in which he sat back. That, of course, would have been well over Bob Beamon's world indoor mark had Bouncy not fallen back.

The Sultan's first quarter press forced Mt. Miguel out of their zone defense, but not before Santana had collected 19 points to the Matador's 9. In the second period the Mats started a comeback but could get no closer than seven points as the first half ended with a 37-30 Sultan advantage.

Mt. Miguel surged ahead in the third period as the shooting of Bob Baxter, Reubin Ray, and LaVerle Parker finally began to click.

The quiet second half contrasted with the first half which saw high-scoring and quick ball-handling. Santana scored only eight points after half-time, and any Sultan attempts at fancy ball-control almost inevitably ended in turnovers.

In fact, 15 turnovers were forced by the Matador press in the last half, but the close-playing took its toll as three Miguel starters fouled out.

The score was deadlocked 45-45 at the end of regulation time nad 47-47 entering the final minute of overtime when a Matador foul put the game's high scorer, Sultan John Bobof at the foul line. Bobof sunk the free throw and gave Santana the game, 48-47.

Bobof finished with 28 points, while guard Jeff Lange led the Matadors with 11.

The loss brings Mt. Miguel's record to 9-2 in league play, both losses coming at the hands of Santana, and knocks the Mats out of first place. The Sultans are now 7-3 and in third place in league standings.

Wednesday, February 19, is Ladies Group Day and that evening is Singles and Couples Night. Ticket reservations for both special events may be made by calling 729-9111, Ext. 340.

Seniors Day
Senior Citizens Day is Friday with senior citizens receiving a $6 reserved seat for $3. Families get a break that evening when the head of the family pays the full $6 price, the woman adult $3 and all children only $1.50.

Military tickets at $3 for any performance are available from 11th District Special Services and children are admitted for half-price at all matches.

Starting times are 1 and 7 p.m. Monday through Friday with Saturday and Sunday matches beginning at noon.

Since there was not a single ticket winner in the 5-10 contest over the weekend, the reserve jackpot climbed to $27,397 and will be added to the regular pool on Saturday should one person select six straight winners.

Ramon Flores continues to be the track's leading jockey and he added four wins over the weekend to make his total 16 for the first eight days of racing of the new meeting.

Juan Garcia is the track's leading trainer with 11 wins after adding four to his total over the weekend.

Flores and Garcia were the track's leading jockey and trainer combination last year.

The meet, highlighting the first duel between Filbert Bayl of Tanzania and America's Rick Wohlhuter in the mile, is set Saturday night, Feb. 15, at the Sports Arena.

USC's Williams was the youngest gold medal winner in track and field at the Munich Olympics. He and his pet Teddy Bear was one of the happier memories of a somber Olympics.

Randy has announced he will try to defend his title at Montreal next year. Bouncy may be the world's hottest jumper at the moment. The National Champion won the recent Sunkist meet and had a leap of 28-1 in which he sat back. That, of course, would have been well over Bob Beamon's world indoor mark had Bouncy not fallen back.

Robinson won the bronze medal at the Olympics in Munich and he, too, is competing well this season.

Tickets for the meet are on sale at Bill Gamble's, Montgomery-Ward and all Arena ticket agencies, or by phoning 224-4176.

Rodeo Booked At Sports Arena

San Diego's Sports Arena will be converted into the nation's largest interior corral Feb. 21-23 when some of the country's top cowboys compete in the eighth annual edition of the San Diego Indoor Rodeo.

The arena will be transformed into a "corral" with the dumping of some 600 tons of dirt on the building's main floor.

Cowboys competing in the RCA-sponsored event will compete for $10,000 in local prize money as well as a shot at part of $135,000 in Winston rodeo awards.

Competition will include saddle bronc, bareback and bull riding together with steer wrestling, calf roping, team roping, girls' barrel racing and all-around cowboy.

A highlight of the 1975 edition will be the "Will Rogers U.S.A." show and an opening ceremony salute to America's 200th anniversary titled "The Sounds of Liberty."

Leading an array of girl riders in the opening pageant, try will be Cindy Dodge Alexander, who won the title of world's champion team roper in the Girl's Rodeo Association for 1973.

Announcing the 8 p.m. performances on Feb. 21 and 22 and the 6 p.m. show on Feb. 23 will be rodeo authority Lex Connelly, co-founder of the Golden State Co. producers of the show.

Toreros in Pair Of Arizona Games

San Diego U. basketball team completes a rough middle portion of its 1974-75 schedule that has seen 11 road games in 13 appearances when the Toreros travel to Arizona for two contests this weekend.

USD, currently eight wins and nine losses on the season, meets Grand Canyon College, Friday, and New Mexico Highlands, Saturday, with both games set for the Grand Canyon gym in Phoenix.

San Diego, off and running with a 5-1 record early in the schedule, will welcome the last seven games on its slate following this weekend's action. Five of its last seven appearances are in the Torero gymnasium and USD is 7-0 at home and 1-9 on foreign courts.

Because you asked.

In our continuing dialog with the community, SDG&E is asked certain questions again and again. Since they represent areas of special concern to a great many people, we will answer these "most-asked" questions for all of our customers through this series of newspaper columns.

Let's Talk Conservation

1. Why aren't businesses cutting down on energy consumption when small homeowners are doing everything possible to conserve?

Businesses are cutting down impressively. When the Public Utilities Commission asked for very substantial energy cutbacks at the beginning of 1974, they ordered mandatory restrictions on commercial sign lighting, indoor and outdoor illumination and flood lighting. In addition, our representatives met with our 600 largest business and industrial customers and helped them establish conservation programs. The results were the following electric reductions in the 12 month period ending November 30, 1974:

Commercial	15.9%
Industrial	11.8%

That compares to residential reductions of exactly 11.4%.

2. Given a choice, is it better to use an electric or a gas appliance?

Right now, gas appliances are two to three and a half times more efficient in overall energy use. However, gas supplies are dwindling even faster than oil and most of our future energy resources will be used to provide more abundant electric power. When electricity becomes more plentiful, it will become more practical to use, and the cost difference between gas and electricity should diminish.

3. Why aren't new automatic ignitors available for gas appliances?

Primarily because there has been little customer demand and because of high development costs to the manufacturers. However, we are campaigning nationally and supporting legislation which would require automatic ignitors on all gas appliances. We understand that a few companies are currently developing ignitors for forced air heaters and ranges, and at least one furnace model featuring an ignitor will be available sometime this year.

4. What are the best ways to cut heating costs?

As we have said, proper insulation is the most important single way to cut heating costs. As a tip, if you can see your ceiling rafters, you don't have enough ceiling insulation. It is easy to install and pays for itself in a fairly short time and can reduce your heating and cooling costs by as much as 25%, so it definitely should be a consideration if you are trying to cut down.

Other heat cost-cutters include lowering your thermostat setting to 68° or less, keeping doors and fireplace dampers closed when not in use, keeping drapes closed at night, keeping furnace filters clean and closing off rooms you don't need to heat.

5. Do you sometimes estimate your billing rather than read the meter?

On extremely rare occasions when the meter is completely inaccessible to the meter reader, we will estimate consumption based on previous usage. When your bill is estimated, the fact that it was estimated is always indicated on the bill itself.

6. How can customers be sure their meter is being read accurately?

Our meter readers are thoroughly trained and can read meters with amazing accuracy. They are also equipped with telescopes which they can use to read meters blocked by dangerous dogs or fencing. If you think for any reason that your meter is not being read accurately, you can always call us and we'll check it for you. We'll also provide additional information on how meters are read, if you like.

7. How much does lighting contribute to electric use, and what are the best ways to cut down?

The amount lighting contributes to electric use varies from home to home tremendously. It, of course, depends on how many lights you use indoors and out, how careful you are about turning them off and the type of lighting you use. The best way to cut down is naturally to turn off. But you can also substitute fluorescent lights in many areas... they give four times the light for the same amount of electricity, last 10 times as long and produce less waste heat. Other hints... make sure your light isn't blocked by the wrong size lampshade or a collection of dust. Place lamps strategically so one will do the work of 3 or 4. And don't leave lights burning when you're not using them.

8. What makes the refrigerator the largest electricity user in the home?

The refrigerator is the largest energy user among your appliances because it operates in a continuous cycle... either working hard to cool food and adjust to door openings or heat up for defrosting.

9. How does a frost-free refrigerator compare to the standard models in energy consumption?

A frost-free refrigerator uses twice as much energy as a standard model.

10. Do mobile home parks buy wholesale and resell to mobile home owners at a profit?

Mobile home parks and apartment complexes with master meters are allowed to buy from us at a bulk rate and resell to their tenants at a higher figure. However, their rates must be the same as the residential rate that would be charged if you were being served directly by SDG&E. In such cases, the owner of the complex must also pay the expense of installing and maintaining his own distribution system, so he often just breaks even or realizes a small profit. Again, the end user pays the same rate as for direct service.

If you have additional questions on this subject, we will do our best to provide answers. Please write: Mr. John Hamrick, Vice President—Marketing, SDG&E, P.O. Box 1831, San Diego, CA 92112.

Hope Heads Celebs, Nichols Tops Pros In 8th AWSDO Tourney

Bob Hope and a host of other celebrities and touring golf pros have been added to the cast of the eighth annual Andy Williams San Diego Open.

Hope, according to tournament chairman Hal Tebbetts, will play only in the Celebrity Amateur event Tuesday at Stardust Country Club and will confine his activity to nine holes. All players in this competition will tee off in a shotgun start at 11 a.m.

The added Tuesday Celebrity Am will be open to the general public, with tickets available for purchase at the gate. Persons presenting tournament badges and season tickets will be admitted without charge.

Pros will join celebrities and amateurs from all over the nation in the Celebrity Pro-Am on Feb. 12 at Torrey Pines golf course followed by

Press Club Names Golf Match Officials

An invitational golf event with players from Southern California's professional sports team participating will be held February 28 at the Whispering Palms Country Club.

Beneficiary of the proceeds will be the San Diego Press Club.

Sponsors are the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and TV Guide.

More than 50 professional athletes will participate along with amateurs in the 18-hole competition, which will be followed by a banquet.

Sports committee members for the event are Buzzie Bavasi, president of the Padres; Terry Owens, Chargers offensive tackle; Jack Murphy, newspaper sports columnist; Randy Jones, Padres pitcher; and Jerry Coleman, former New York Yankee infielder and now a Padre broadcaster.

In addition to Padre and Charger players, several Rams and stars from other pro football and baseball teams will be in the celebrity field.

Andy Mace, president of the Press Club said, "terrific support" from the Padres and Chargers has been received.

"Buzzie Bavasi is arranging for manager John McNamara to be present along with players in the area and the Chargers are assisting us in reaching all NFL players in Southern California," Mace said.

Amateur invitations are expected to be exhausted well in advance of the tournament date and those who are interested in playing are urged to reserve a spot as soon as possible.

Starting Pitchers Signed by Padres

The San Diego Padres four-man starting rotation for the majority of the 1974 campaign plus their fifth man for the latter part of the year and a pair of newcomers have all agreed to contract terms for 1975, General Manager Peter Bavasi announced.

The four regulars are Bill Greif, Randy Jones, Dan Spillner and Dave Freisleben plus Joe McIntosh who served as the fifth man during the month of September following the end of the minor league season.

Also signing their first contracts with the Padres are Danny Frisella and Alan Foster.

Both Spillner and Freisleben created quite a stir for the Padres a year ago as they joined the club after spending the first few weeks of the season at the Pads Triple-A Hawaii farm club. The pair promptly broke into the starting rotation and went on to tie for the club lead in victories, each finishing with nine.

Spillner (9-11, 4.01) tossed a sparkling one-hitter at the Cubs in Chicago in front of owner Ray Kroc on June 19 as the lone hit off him was an infield single off his leg by Rick Monday in the third inning. Dan then finished out the year by stopping the Dodgers in back-to-back outings, making him the only Padre to best the Western Division champions all season.

13 Good Innings
Freisleben (9-14, 3.65) oddly enough turned in his best performance in a game in which he was not credited with a decision. He blanked the Cincinnati Reds for 13 innings on eight hits on August 4 before giving way to Rusty Gerhart in the 14th who then picked up the win in the last of that inning.

Greif and Jones are both coming off disappointing seasons. Greif was 9-19, 4.70 while Jones was 8-22, 4.46. Jones found himself in the position as the Padres real hard-luck man last year as in 17 of his 22 setbacks, his teammates supplied him with only two runs or less.

In McIntosh, the Padres feel they have one of the better young pitchers in the National League. He made the club at the beginning of the season, but was sent to Hawaii after a couple of weeks in order to get more work. McIntosh rejoined the club following the end of the Hawaii season in early September and finished with marks of 0-4, 3.65.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

The ladies, God love 'em. But lovely to look at and delightful to hold . . . my foot. Even those easy on the eyes and good to smell can turn as hard as nails in a moment's notice.

Voices, softened by nature to coo lullabies to infants, are able to charge with the vehemence of anticipated mayhem in berating the ancestry, life style, living habits and sexual interest of anyone who disagrees or questions female doings in this man's world.

I have by count, this week, received an even half dozen obscene telephone calls and my ears were burning a couple of times more when I wasn't near a phone.

I haven't heard language like that since I was a young sailor living the high life down on 4th and "E" Sts. back in the late and lamented 40's.

They were all from females who took umbrage with my honest effort (printed in these spaces last issue) about female sports types cheap shooting their way into male locker rooms in the name of editorial freedom.

It ended with a call to repeal the 19th amendment and charged men to get womenfolk "out of the dressing room and back into the bed room where they belong."

Women are, after all, nothing more than an extension of man's rib. They were the very last thing God made. Women were designed to be the tender and spender gender. And, in fact, they are the one thing that is, indeed, stranger than fiction.

Women have been satisfied, all these years, to love men . . . not so much because they were men, but because they were not women. They hate each other. Since before recorded history women have disliked and distrusted one another.

How things have changed. Women now work together to kick man out of his rightful place in society. And they're so good at it, you'd think a man was directing the effort.

Women strive to become equals to male pursuits, even if they have to create a sexless world in which to strut their stuff.

They charge into the sports world, blackjacking their way into male dressing room interviews under the guise of "freedom of the press" and lady lib equality.

Pretty Laurie Singer, of KFMB-TV Sports, crashed the San Diego Mariners locker room last week, did several interviews-in-underwear and one-in-towel to claim a first for women's lib and Channel-8. She also responded to last week's effort here with a letter of protest.

"Dear John,
"If my hand will stop shaking long enough to write (she was angry with me) I would like to set you straight on a few things.

"Women belong in sports, participating, but more so, reporting the stuff. Attitudes about your so called (male) "hard hitting reporting" is for the birds. Women sportscasters hit sports where it counts, in the eyes and ears of all true sports fans.

"Knowing the facts is the key. A male sportscaster who has not done his homework sounds like an idiot. You speak (write) of ratings, but that kind of reporter should be crucified for his performance, not his (or her) sex.

"Tune in, John. That side ache (where my Adams rib used to be) isn't from your missing rib, it's just a sympathy pain. Your side is in sympathy with your closed mind, chauvinistic brain.

"See you in the dressing room after the game."

/s/ Laurie Singer
Now, no one in his right mind is going to mistake Laurie for a boy. It's amazing that she doesn't know the difference. It's the curse of lady libberism.

Of course any inept reporter, male or the other kind, would read or sound like an idiot. And such nonsense should be crucified wholly on performance.

But simple expertise in a subject doesn't give females, be they pretty, proud, pushy or proficient, the right to declare that sexual differences do not exist, nor that they, nor their victims, are not to be moved by them.

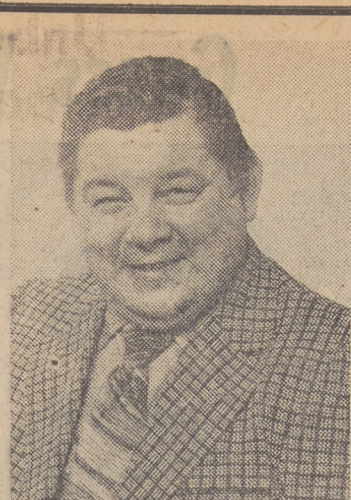

Laurie's success came in a hockey team's dressing room after a loss. It was her luck. Only an athlete of French ancestry could peel to the buff in front of a pretty girl without batting an eye. And a losing team always hangs its head down . . . for awhile.

Can't you just imagine what kind of story Laurie might have had to write if the Mariners had won that night. Lady libber or no, it could have been an "X" rated sports story. And wouldn't that stiffen your ratings.

Sales Up Despite Economy, Lynch Says

State Board of Equalization Chairman John W. Lynch reported that despite the deepening of the recession and the worsening of inflation, third-quarter taxable sales increased 14.9 percent over the similar period of 1973, marking the strongest retail sales growth since the spring of 1973.

Retail sales for the third quarter 1973 total $17.6 billion compared with $15.3 billion for third quarter 1973.

Mariners Eye Playoffs With 12 Home Games Left

The Mariners nestled in fourth place in the World Hockey League's Western Division, will host Minnesota tonight and Saturday before taking on the Quebec Nordiques Tuesday.

The three home games will give the team a chance to pick up ground in their battle for a post-season playoff berth. They have only 12 home games left after the Nordiques encounter.

Solid goaltending by Ernie Wakely and the point making of center Andre Lacroix have paved the way for San Diego's playoff bid. Wakely, purchased from Winnipeg, Jan. 3, was in the nets for the recent five-game win streak while Lacroix, already with a 15-game point streak earlier in the season, is currently on a ten-game burst.

32 Games Remain
With 32 games remaining on the schedule, including the 12 at home, the Mariners have four 20-goal scorers presently in the fold. They include wingers Wayne Rivers (28), Gene Peacock (22) and captain Norm Ferguson (21) and center Lacroix (22). Lacroix tops the team, and the WHA, with 45 assists.

With Wakely entrenched as the team's front line goalie, the Mariners are shuffling backup netminders Joe Junkin and Russ Gillow between San Diego and their Syracuse farm club in the North American League. The latest movement has Gillow called up after a two-game stay in Syracuse and Junkin sent back to the Blazers.

Wall Play Doubtful
Defenseman Bob Wall, out with a compressed vertebrae suffered against Edmonton, December 19, still wears a back brace and remains doubtful for the remainder of the season.

Jim Hargreaves, acquired in a trade with Indianapolis, has taken up much of the slack caused by Wall's absence and has blended well with blue liners Bob Falkenberg, player-coach Harry Howell, Ron Plumb and Kevin Morrison. Morrison, the league's highest scoring defenseman as a rookie last year, has 37 points alternating between the blue line and left wing.

Ingram Replaces Feldman
Player personnel director Ron Ingram has assumed the additional post of general manager for the San Diegos with the departure of Skip Feldman to the Baltimore Blades. Ingram, who also is the bench coach during Mariner games, missed Tuesday's contest against Toronto following a one game suspension and fine as an aftermath of the penalty-filled affair with Winnipeg, January 28.

To assist Ingram in his new front office chores, Mariner head scout Les Calder has been called in from the road to help.

Through the first 23 home games, San Diego has attracted 120,513 fans, an average of 5,239.

Q's February Schedule Lists 8 More Home Games

The San Diego Conquistadors are hoping to get on track the month of February with eight more home games during the month and make a serious bid for a playoff spot in the ABA West.

Seven of those home games are in succession counting last night's game with the Nets.

The Q's are currently 13-11 on their home court for their first 24 appearances. Friday night the Kentucky Colonels will be in San Diego to battle the Conquistadors. At half time of that game there will be a 15-minute karate demonstration, featuring Master Jong Lee, a seventh degree black belt holder.

Sunday, the San Antonio Spurs will make their final local appearance of 1974-75. Swen Nater, all-star center, who missed a week of action with a bad knee is slated to play.

The February home schedule:

Friday, February 7 vs. Kentucky

Sunday, February 9 vs. San Antonio

Wednesday, February 12 vs. Denver

Friday, February 14 vs. New York

A new face on the Q's roster is forward Bob Nash. A free agent, he joined the club on Saturday morning just in time to make the last road trip. Nash is 6-8, 210 and a 1972 graduate of the University of Hawaii. He was a first round draft pick of the Detroit Pistons and played two years in the NBA. Nash played little in those two years, averaging 2.1 points per game in 71 appearances. He made his San Diego debut a memorable one, scoring 19 points in 22 minutes in the 128-111 loss to the Nuggets on Saturday.

TAX ANSWERS

F. S. Schmidt, DISTRICT DIRECTOR, INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. The union I belong to Form 1040 or 1040A, U. S. Individual Income Tax Return. However, they do not qualify me for the $100 dividend exclusion which I contributed. Are these payments taxable?

A. Unemployment benefit payments you receive from a fund to which you voluntarily contribute, whether union established or established as a private, nonunion fund, are income only to the extent that they exceed your payments to the fund.

Q. My sister and I just started a joint savings account. Who pays the tax on the interest on our savings?

A. If two or more persons hold a savings account, bonds or other interest-producing property as joint tenants, tenants by the entirety, or tenants in common, the interest is considered received by each person to the extent that person is entitled under local law to a share of such interest. Each owner will report his or her share of such interest under the same method, whether cash or accrual, that he or she uses to report income.

Q. Can I exclude the first $100 of dividends I received as a result of shares I bought in a real estate investment trust?

A. No. Ordinary dividends received by shareholders of a real estate investment trust are nonqualifying dividends. They are included in the dividends reported on line 10a of

Mail Order Ads Sans Address Are Illegal

The Department of Consumer Affairs issued a warning to the print and broadcast media that certain mail order firms which advertise through the media are in violation of a section of the California Business and Professional Code.

Section 17538.5 states, "It is unlawful in the sale or offering for sale of consumer goods or services, for any person conducting a mail order or catalog business in this state and utilizing a post office box address to fail to disclose the legal name under which business is done and the complete street address from which the business is actually conducted in all advertising and promotional materials, including order blanks and forms."

Violators coming to the attention of the Department are advertisers of record and book offers, household gadgets and home employment offers which must be purchased in a mail order transaction by the customer. Such advertising without mentioning the legal name under which the business is done and the complete street address is illegal.

Fine for such an offense is $2,500.

Local Realtor Teaches Three Real Estate Classes

Two Real Estate Licenses courses are offered by the Hoover Adult School.

A morning class meets from 9 to noon on Wednesday and Fridays at the Rolando United Methodist Church, 4855 Seminole dr. (65th and El Cajon blvd.) and an evening class from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Hoover Adult School 4395 El Cajon blvd., San Diego.

Enrollment starts Wednesday, February 11 at office or in classroom 304.

The course is free. It is for those wanting to prepare for the California State Real Estate Salesman Examination. It is, also, open for those who want to become more familiar with the problems of buying and owning a home or income property.

The emphasis, according to Thren, will be on how to pyramid assets of real estate investments, interest free loans, how to increase income from rental houses and apartment units, income tax savings of the law, estate conservation and the management of income properties.

During the course there will be guest speakers who are specialists in various aspects of taxes, estate planning, and finance.

12 Running for Two Grossmont Seats

By Steve Thomas

Twelve candidates will compete for two seats on the governing Board of Grossmont Union High School District. Included are two incumbents: Robert Andreen and Kenneth Whitcomb.

Also running are Waldo L. Clark, Stephen G. Custeau, Andrew Dye, Pete and Sue Pittsburgh, Lloyd P. Pullen, Gus Rose, Herman Lee Stout, John J. Williams and Ed Wright.

Election is March 4. Here is a run-down on the candidates' campaign philosophies:

Robert Andreen is seeking re-election. He cites as the main problem in district policy an insufficient transfer of counseling and vocational information to students.

"Many programs are irrelevant to the students and to society," he said. "Many leave high school with no marketable skill."

Andreen served on the La Mesa-Spring Valley School Board in 1962 and was recalled following an issue regarding teacher-led prayer.

Waldo Clark is president of the Foothill Taxpayers Assn., a non-profit organization which studies educational issues and their relationship to the flow of tax dollars.

"I am the candidate who has refused campaign funds from teacher groups," Clark said. Clark feels that teacher groups might endorse candidates who will expect less than the best quality from them and will conform to their selfish interests.

Stephen Custeau, a 1968 graduate of Mt. Miguel High School and a salesman for Micro-Reproduction supply, sees vocational training as a big issue. As a tutor and teacher-aid while in college, Custeau observed students leaving high school totally unprepared for life outside of college.

Andrew Dye is a 34-year-old high school student. He is now completing classes through the Adult Education Department. He finds the main issue in handling taxpayers' money.

"Too much money is spent on dressing up the schools with not enough going into the classrooms," he said. He also favors exemption of retired or senior citizens from school taxes.

Dr. Kenneth Whitcomb, an incumbent, wants to maintain quality programs with decreasing funds. He favors a change in the school taxation system and believes there should be more emphasis on career education.

John Williams, a botany major, at Grossmont Junior College, aims to help students by improving counseling facilities and maintaining higher standards for College Preparatory students.

Insurance Executive Ed Wright envisions as the biggest problem in the district "political hacks feathering their own nests." Politicians, not persons interested in schools, are running the schools, he said.

By releasing central administrative salaries which reduces funds for students, Wright proposes to improve course content, student distribution, and teacher incomes.

Wright also wants to coordinate the three transportation systems operating in the district to create a single efficient system.

Wright has worked with students in YMCA, Pop Warner, and Little League activities.

High School Operation 'Disenchanting' - Wright

Ed Wright, a district manager for an insurance firm in La Mesa, is a candidate for the Grossmont Union High School District school board.

He said this week that he has become disenchanting with the district's administration and their policies.

Wright said he knows accounting because accounting was his major in college. "Before the election the administration told us they had available only $31 million but it took $33 million to run the district."

"As of November 30th their income was nearly $37 million. What's wrong with their accounting?"

Where did the rest of the money come from? "The taxpayers are being bilked!"

"The quality of education had gone down because they are spending the money on administration instead of using it for education."

"The administration must accept the fiscal responsibility that goes with the job they are being well-paid to perform."

"Even with elementary school population declining, the five superintendents of the Grossmont High School District (one superintendent and four the money by which the Montevista pool and its stadium were built.

He supported the override election last year and has contributed much of his time to many youth activities including Boy Scouts; YMCA; La Mesa Recreation Basketball and Cajon de Oro Little League.

"They (the administration) clubbed us into supporting the high school override election by taking away some of the kids' recreation programs and threatening to reduce teacher personnel—so I voted for it."

Wright said he knows accounting because accounting was his major in college.

Wright is 47, married and the father of three children. He was graduated from San Diego State in 1952 with a degree in accounting.

He has been or is serving as program director for YMCA Summer Camp; Chairman of the Board of Arthritis Foundation, San Diego; Director of John A. Davis YMCA; a Boy Scout leader; Director of the La Mesa Kiwanis club; Director of Grossmont-Mt. Humble Hero Rescues Children, Leaves

By John Kowalczyk

These days we all too often read about tragic incidents witnessed by innocent bystanders who became "blind-standers" because they chose not to get involved.

This story is different.

Michael Cerda is a sixth grade teacher at Avondale Elementary school and a part-time little league coach. A week ago Wednesday about 9

the darkened street, so he quickly pulled his car to the side of the road and laid on his horn.

Neighbors stirred and Cerda left his car to assist a woman frantically climbing through one of the windows in the burning house. She screamed that children were inside.

With an assist from a 17-year-old neighborhood lad who heard the honking, Cerda was boosted into the house where he helped two small children escape. The woman screamed that a baby remained in the house, asleep in a crib.

The smoke, he said, was so thick that it was impossible to see. He groped for the crib in the unfamiliar, smokey darkness. The smoke made him withdraw to the window where he grabbed a drape from the wall and wrapped it around his face. He resumed the search, located the infant (still asleep in the crib), and moved it to safety.

Fire fighters arrived on the scene shortly thereafter and put out the blaze.

The fire report on the incident didn't mention Cerda's heroics. He left before the on-duty chief could question him. Cerda had business to attend to.

The report did mention that the home had been occupied by Tommy Corley (who was working at the time), his three children and his mother; that it sustained an estimated $9000 damage; and that the probable cause was one of several forms of arthritis; 4. Improvement of techniques for replacement of hips and other joints; 5. Statistical surveys of arthritis incidence; and 6. Effective treatment of arthritis.

"There is no successful form of treatment," Cranston noted. "Many arthritis sufferers become victims of false cures, quack remedies and exploitation by the unscrupulous."

The bill, which Cranston introduced a year ago under the title the "National Arthritis Act," calls for a "planned strategy" over the next three years for research into the cause, prevention and cure of arthritis, along with analyses of new treatment techniques.

Cranston, who serves on the Senate Health Subcommittee, estimated that the conquest of arthritis "could save the nation $9.2 billion in medical bills and lost wages every year."

He said arthritis and related musculoskeletal diseases afflict more than 20 million Americans and are "the greatest single cause of chronic pain and disability."

Cranston said the idea of developing a new national attack on arthritis had its origins in a report by "a prestigious group of rheumatologists, orthopedic surgeons and other leaders in the medical profession."

Six major research goals to help find the causes and cures of arthritis are:

1. Determination of whether a viral agent is the cause of arthritis and, if so, its identification;

2. Clarification of the involvement of the immune system in the development of rheumatoid arthritis;

3. Identification of the mechanisms of inflammation, the had been known as the Commerce and Finance subcommittee.

the darkened street, so he quickly pulled his car to the side of the road and laid on his horn.

Neighbors stirred and Cerda left his car to assist a woman frantically climbing through one of the windows in the burning house. She screamed that children were inside.

With an assist from a 17-year-old neighborhood lad who heard the honking, Cerda was boosted into the house where he helped two small children escape. The woman screamed that a baby remained in the house, asleep in a crib.

The smoke, he said, was so thick that it was impossible to see. He groped for the crib in the unfamiliar, smokey darkness. The smoke made him withdraw to the window where he grabbed a drape from the wall and wrapped it around his face. He resumed the search, located the infant (still asleep in the crib), and moved it to safety.

Fire fighters arrived on the scene shortly thereafter and put out the blaze.

Mobile Home Pact Eases Procedure for Warranty Repairs

Four of the nation's largest mobile home manufacturers have agreed to establish and maintain an effective system to handle warranty-related complaints. In addition they have agreed to a proposal of the Federal Trade Commission to provide, with certain exceptions, warranty repairs on still unrepaired mobile homes manufactured by them between July 1, 1972, and June 30, 1974. The exceptions include defects caused by owners' abuse or those which appeared after one year following purchase.

The companies involved are: Skyline Corporation of Elkhart, Indiana; Redman Industries of Dallas, Texas; Fleetwood Enterprises of Riverside, California; and Commodore Corporation of Omaha, Nebraska.

Consumer Affairs officials hailed the action which establishes responsibility for repair work. Department Director Patricia Gayman declared "this action should go far to end consumer frustration caused by uncorrected defects in their mobile homes. No longer will they be the victims of 'buck passing' between manufacturers and dealers."

Under the proposed rules, manufacturers would automatically make the repairs and then "bicker" with the dealer over who should pay the tab.

The Department reminds consumers who purchased homes manufactured by these companies between July 1972 and June 1974, and who still have unrepaired defects that appeared within one year after purchase to write: Mobilehome Task Force, Federal Trade Commission, Room 266, Washington, D.C. 20580.

Letters should explain defects in detail including all pertinent dates. The FTC will review complaints and forward them to the manufacturer if a repair is warranted.

Jobless Claims Less Than Anticipated

Unemployed workers who may be eligible for benefit payments under new federal legislation are not filing claims at anywhere near the rate anticipated, Albert Mendoza, District Administrator of the San Diego Employment Development Department, said recently.

Mendoza said that the Special Assistance (SUA) program provides for benefit payments, up to a maximum of 26 weeks, to unemployed workers not covered by the regular UI program. For the most part, these are agricultural workers, employees of state and local government and domestic workers.

"We have been geared up since January 6 to handle a flood of applicants that has not materialized," Mendoza noted. "We are now worried that the word about this new program has not gotten around in the San Diego area, particularly to the many agricultural workers who are now eligible for unemployment benefits."

"Workers who are eligible to claim benefits under the SUA program should, as soon as possible, bring their records of earnings, employers' names and addresses, social security card number and other documentary evidence necessary to establish a valid claim to the EDD office nearest their home."

Mendoza said that although it would take time to process and prepare the new claims for payment, prompt payment would be a top priority. He said that getting the newly-covered workers in to file claims was his chief concern at the moment.

Dear Editor: The "Dimmer View" shines rather brightly. Thanks for taking a stand on vulgarity and obscenity in our school texts.

I like your phrase "blasphemous sewer jargon" — well said.

Thanks again, too, for the Christmas issue.
